Orora announces strategic partnership with AHG

Orora Limited (ASX:ORA) is pleased to announce a strategic partnership with AHG Refrigerated Logistics that will provide significant benefits to Orora's fruit and produce corrugated customer base in Australia.

AHG (ASX:AHG) is Australia's largest refrigerated logistics provider with an extensive road and rail transport fleet complemented by state-of-the-art cold stores in all Australian capital cities. The AHG transport network includes the well-known company names of Rand, Harris, Scott's Refrigerated Freightways and JAT.

Through this partnership, Orora Fibre Packaging will continue to focus on providing cost-effective, fit-for-purpose, corrugated cartons to the Australian fruit and produce sector with an additional service offering that now includes logistics. AHG will provide a comprehensive logistics infrastructure that delivers cartons in a timely manner to our customers, with market-leading capability to collect and protect their fresh produce through the transport chain ensuring it arrives to market in optimal condition.

"Orora strives to be a customer-led provider of innovative packaging solutions, and this partnership with AHG is a significant step in that journey," said Nigel Garrard, Managing Director and CEO, Orora Limited.

"Orora and AHG can now offer our fruit and produce customers an end-to-end packaging solution for their produce, from carton to market in pristine condition."

The partnership with AHG is effective from 19 October 2015. Customers interested in learning more should contact their Orora Account Manager, or Orora Fibre Packaging on 03 9811 7111.
